

Talking Points
Video taping for Citizens National Bank
Monday, October 2, 2006

As Governor, as you may have read recently, I do some traveling. What you didn't read is that most of my traveling is around Mississippi.

And when I look around Mississippi I see a lot of banks ... all of them with a mission to offer valuable financial services to their customers.

When I look at Citizens National Bank, I realize your mission goes beyond individuals and reaches into the communities you serve, contributing to economic success and business development all around Mississippi.

I understand now that Citizens National is reaching another plateau: becoming a billion-dollar bank.

I just want to say to Archie McDonnell and the entire Citizens National Bank team: Congratulations. This is a tremendous accomplishment and I'm proud of you. Keep it up ... you're making a real difference in Mississippi.